

Invitation to exhibit and/or co-sponsor the SBCNA 2019 Annual Conference

Greenville, SC
October 24-27, 2019

“Biofeedback and Neurofeedback for Optimal Health and Peak Performance”

Pre-Conference: October 24, 2019

Conference: October 25-27, 2019

The SOUTHEAST BIOFEEDBACK AND CLINICAL NEUROSCIENCE ASSOCIATION is a non-profit networking and educational organization for bio/neurofeedback providers, offering opportunities for training and continued professional development, serving as a resource for medical and allied health professionals who seek to make referrals, and providing information for consumers considering the services of a bio/neurofeedback professional.

You are invited to exhibit and/or co-sponsor the 2019 Southeast Biofeedback and Clinical Neuroscience conference. In addition to compelling speakers, the 2019 conference will offer workshops and hands-on equipment demonstrations for beginners through advanced practitioners. We expect approximately 100 clinician attendees, consisting primarily of counselors, psychologists and allied health professionals and representing a wide variety of interest areas within the field of healthcare.

Presentations will address current research related to neurofeedback, biofeedback, and complementary therapies. Speakers will present evidence-based tools, methods and strategies designed to optimize training outcomes for clinicians.

SBCNA needs your support, not only with a financial contribution to our conference but also your presence as a vendor introducing your services and equipment. Your participation facilitates our mission to educate and support professionals, and provides a forum for you to interact directly with providers to get the word out about your company. Our conference has become known for a relaxed and open collegiality that encourages dialog and connections among professionals exchanging ideas about how to better serve our clients. We are committed to providing generous opportunities in the schedule for attendees to spend time in the vendor area and encourage sponsorship of a networking gathering during which your organization will be featured.

Please know that through your support of any kind of this educational conference, you will be recognized all year as an active part of this community in our print, electronic and website communications.

Please take a look below at the vendor and sponsorship opportunities for this year's conference. For more conference information, please visit www.sebiofeedback.org.
